What is an FSA?

It's an employee benefit that allows you to set aside money pre-tax to pay for eligible health care and child care expenses for you, your spouse and dependents, even if you're not covered by your employer's insurance plan. An FSA provides significant advantages, including:

- Immediate tax savings: Contributions to your FSA are made on a pre-tax basis, which lowers your taxable income and may decrease the amount you pay in federal, state, local and FICA taxes.
- Increased spendable income: Your net income may increase each month because your contributions to the FSA lower your taxable income.
- Better cash flow: An FSA allows you to budget for your medical, dental, and vision expenses on a pre-tax basis. Your total Health Care FSA election is available at the beginning of the plan year, which gives you the ability to use the funds as needed, yet have a small amount (election/number of pay periods) deducted from your payroll each pay date.
- Coverage for entire family: When making your election, remember to include expenses for yourself, your spouse, and/or your tax dependents.

How do FSAs work?

There are two types of FSAs:

- Health Care FSA allows reimbursement of qualifying out-of-pocket medical expenses.
- Dependent Daycare FSA allows reimbursement for work-related dependent daycare expenses for dependents under the age of 13 or dependent adults incapable of self-care.

Before you enroll, you must decide how much you want to contribute to each account. You should spend some time estimating your anticipated eligible medical and dependent daycare expenses by reviewing your out-of-pocket expenses from the previous calendar year. Plan your contribution amount carefully. Per IRS rules, any unused funds remaining in your account at the end of the plan year are forfeited.

Your annual election is divided into equal amounts each pay period and contributions are placed into your account(s). You have access to the entire health care FSA once the plan year begins; however, you will only be eligible to receive reimbursement up to the amount of payroll contributions you have available for the dependent daycare account.

Limits on the amount you can contribute to the dependent daycare FSA are established by federal IRS policy and the same for every employer. However, the maximum amount you can contribute each year to your health care FSA is determined by your employer up to the IRS maximum limit.

Is an FSA right for me?

An FSA is a great way to pay for expenses with pre-tax dollars. A Health Care FSA could save you money if you or your dependents:

- Have out-of-pocket expenses like co-pays, coinsurance or deductibles for health, prescription, dental or vision plans
- Have a health condition that requires the purchase of prescription medications on an ongoing basis
- Wear glasses or contact lenses, or are planning LASIK surgery
- Need orthodontia care, such as braces, or have dental expenses not covered by your insurance

A Dependent Daycare FSA provides pre tax reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses related to dependent care. This makes sense if you (and your spouse, if married) are working or in school, and:

- Your dependent children under age 13 attend daycare, after-school care or summer day camp
- You provide care for a person of any age whom you claim as a dependent on your federal income tax return and who is mentally or physically incapable of caring for himself or herself
